25X1X [REDACTED] The Soviet citizens elections in Shanghai during May and June 1947 are probably representative of Soviet elections abroad, and in general follow the pattern of elections in the USSR.

In this report names have been transliterated directly from the Russian. The names underscored in the lists below represent the most important activists-- the most active Soviet citizens in their respective districts and in the Shanghai Community as a whole.

According to a speech on 16 May 1947 by H. Zefirov, Chairman of the Shanghai Soviet Citizens Association, "the Shanghai area is divided into 28 Raions (Districts) of 200-250 voters each; each voter may submit the names of one or more candidates; according to paragraph 11 of the Shanghai Soviet Citizens Association's constitution governing elections, 100 voters elect 9 delegates." See the attached map of Soviet Voting Districts in Shanghai).

1. INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE ELECTION OF DELEGATES TO THE GENERAL ANNUAL REPORT MEETING FOR 1947:

- (2) The number of delegates to the General Annual Report Meeting for 1947 has been established, after due consideration, at 90 persons for each thousand registered members of the Association.
- (3) For the election of delegates all members of the Association are divided according to where they live in the 28 districts of the city, each of which drafts its own district election lists.
- (4) For the organizing and carrying out of district election meetings the Executive Committee has appointed every district an "Authorized Commission for the Election of Delegates" in
- (5) This Authorized Commission is responsible for notifying the voters of its district as to the time and place for the election meetings.
- (6) Admission to the district election meetings is only possible on the presentation of the membership books of the Association.
- (7) Decisions made at these election meetings will be considered valid only if at least 1/2 of the voters living in each district are present."
